Edgewood, Maryland and Dallas, Texas – (October 13, 2008): Mobile/Modular Express Inc. and Miller Building Systems, Inc. have reached an agreement in which Mobile/Modular Express, Inc. will acquire the assets of Miller Building Systems, Inc., comprised predominantly of two manufacturing facilities, located in Elkhart, Indiana and Leola, Pennsylvania. This will provide Mobile/Modular Express Inc. the opportunity to expand its' existing business into new geographic areas, incorporate new product lines and collectively satisfy the needs of current and potential customers of Miller Building Systems, Inc. and Mobile/Modular Express Inc.

Ken Zuromski, President of Mobile/Modular Express Inc., stated that "The existing skilled workforce and the modern manufacturing infrastructure of Miller Building Systems, Inc. along with the experience and industry reputation of Mobile/Modular Express Inc. will allow us to deliver unprecedented quality and service to our customers."

"We are very pleased to have reached this agreement with Mobile/Modular Express Inc. as we strongly believe this transaction will result in an industry leading commercial modular building manufacturer," said Wayne Lawrence, President of Miller Building Systems, Inc.

This transaction marks Mobile/Modular Express Inc.'s entrance into the telecommunications industry by providing highly secure, durable structures to house communications equipment. This same technology can be expanded to other uses where bullet resistance, blast resistance and high security are of top priority.

Mobile/Modular Express Inc. intends to complete all orders currently in production and accept pending orders during the transition period.
