

COVID-19 CASE STUDY: URGENT NEEDS REQUIRE IMMEDIATE SOLUTIONS

Mobile Modular Ready to Meet the Needs of First Responders

THE CHALLENGE

In the midst of a global pandemic, first responders must react quickly and safely at a moment's notice. They need the right tools and solutions available in order to meet their needs and those of the public. So, when the Long Beach Fire Department reached out to Mobile Modular with an urgent request for building units to accommodate the emergency response team, we were ready to assist.

The Mobile Modular team started by assessing how best to meet their needs and then sent over a selection of floor plans for them to review. The challenge was to be able to match their unique requirements to our inventory and deliver immediately, as this was a time sensitive need.

THE SOLUTION

On March 18, 2020, we delivered three singlewide units, which were followed by an additional order of eight units the next day. All 11 units were delivered by March 20 for immediate use. Our highly secure portable units are available in various sizes, easy to customize, require minimal on-site assembly, and offer a cost-effective alternative due to their efficient design and lower labor costs.
